CITY OF THE INSANE.

One of the most remarkable places in Europe, of which no tourist on pleasure bent ever takes notice, says a writer in a Berlin paper, is the "City of the Insane," by which name Ghent, near Antwerp, has been known for generations. About fifteen hundred men and women, afflicted with insanity in all its forms, live there, and have a happy being as the "guests" of the inhabitants, who know by experience how to treat the unfortunate ones. In the streets, in the places of amusement, the cafes and the workshops these patients may be found, and nowhere is there the remotest suggestion of restraint apparent. Two hundred ranges from 10 to 100 dollars a year, and, no matter how small the amount may be, the patient is always the favored member of the family. He has the first right to the most comfortable chair, and the head of the table belongs to him. He receives the most attention, and this he learns to appreciate and to endeavor to maintain by living down his illness. Even the children know how to treat the demented people. The dangerous ones are sent to another settlement and to institutions. It is wonderful how considerate, careful and kind the simple people are toward their charges, and a peep into the community would probably terrify physicians who had never heard of and could not appreciate the good which is being done in this "City of the Insane."

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

Victor A. Hansen, superintendent of the McDermott Dairy Company's plant, in Hoboken, N. J., was shot and instantly killed yesterday morning in the concern's milk depot in that city, by Andrew Rubich, the father of a large family, who was employed as a can washer, at $9 a week.

As soon as he had satisfied himself that his boss was dead, Rubich walked into the yard adjoining the wagon shed, in which the body lay, and committed suicide by sending a bullet into the right side of the neck. Hansen was twenty-five years old, Rubich was forty-two.

Late Saturday night one of the company's milk wagons broke down, and Hansen was called to the depot from his home to straighten out the trouble. He had an interview in the stable shed with Rubich, who had fortified himself for the meeting, so his fellow employees said, by taking several drinks. Just what happened before the can washer began his shooting will never be known, as no one heard the words exchanged by the two men.

MINISTER MURDERED.

With an incident of a negro in the hands of a posse, which have him hanged, and with Roby Boskin, also colored, locked up at Houston, Texas, both tracked by bloodhounds and suspected of assassinating Rev. W. T. Hudson, the Baptist minister at Houston, Saturday, a double lynching will occur before daylight if the party in the swamps can be communicated with. The sheriff and deputies declare they are not able to cope with the mob.

The minister was found at the edge of a pond at midnight Saturday killed by a load of buckshot. In Toledo there is considerable feeling. The citizens want the lives of the negroes spared, because they contend they were hired to kill Dr. Hudson, and that robbery was not the motive.

Boskin was seen with a shotgun and was said to be loaded with buckshot. He cannot give a clear account of himself.

He left his home early in the evening stating that he would be back shortly.

NARROW ESCAPE.

In a heavy thunderstorm, which broke over San Francisco at an early hour yesterday morning, William K. Smith, the manager of the Massie Wire-Less Company, at that city, was struck by lightning. Only the fact that he was holding a message saved him.

The regular wireless operator was trying to locate the steamer Lusitania, off the coast yesterday morning, when Manager Smith arrived. He told the operator to take a nap, and he would manage the wire. He took a nap at the table, and then the storm came.

YOUNG WOMAN KILLED.

The body of Miss Clara Rosen, choir soloist and society leader, was found Saturday hidden in a vacant lot near her home at Ottumwa, Iowa. She had been struck from behind while walking in the street Friday night, dragged into the

Great February Sale of Linens

Domestics and Bedwear

Planned With Special Regard to the Needs of Housekeepers, Hotel and Boarding House Proprietors.

Today we begin a great underprice distribution of Linens and House-hold Domestic which is of tremendous interest because of the near approach of the President's Inauguration. Additional Linens, Bedding, etc., must be generally supplied. And just at this time of your pressing need comes this great Sale, offering immense new stocks—remarkable for variety and of uniform high quality excellence—at prices which mean surprisingly large savings on every purchase. We have been planning and buying for months to the end that this Sale, so happily timed, might be the supremest value-giving event ever conducted on these lines.
